Please join us for “Advanced Issues in Appraising,” the third installment of our Advanced Issues for Appraisers series at Herrick Feinstein, LLP. Panelists include moderator and panelist, Lee Dunbar, AAA, Owner and President of Leila Dunbar Appraisals and Consulting LLC, specializing in collectibles and memorabilia; Jannette M. Barth, Ph.D., Economist and Managing Director, Pepacton Institute LLC; Sylvia Leonard Wolf, AAA, President, Sylvia Leonard Wolf Inc., specializing in American and European Furniture and Decorative Arts and Louis Tuchman, Partner and Co-chair, Tax Group, Herrick Feinstein LLP. Panelists will provide a comprehensive presentation on several of the more complicated situations that appraisers face, such as appraising without obvious comparables, extrapolating between Fair Market Value and Retail Replacement Value and blockage.

About Advanced Issues for Appraisers

In October of 2013, the Appraisers Association of America launched the Advanced Issues for Appraisers program series with “Legal and Ethical Concerns for Appraisers,” followed by “Appraising and the IRS” in February. The seminars in this series address advanced and complex methodology issues affecting personal property appraisers of the fine and decorative arts. All programs take place at the law offices of Herrick Feinstein, LLP, at 2 Park Avenue in New York City. Lunch is served (included in program fee). Each seminar qualifies for 4 CE credits. This series is organized by Deborah G. Spanierman, AAA.
