Lisa Segal-Bloom is counsel in Herrick's Real Estate Department.

Lisa's practice focuses on commercial leasing transactions, representing both landlords and tenants, including national and international restaurants, retailers and financial institutions in office, retail, triple net and ground leases.

Lisa has run the leasing programs for many large office buildings and office parks throughout New York City and the tri-state area, including buildings with more than two million square-feet. She also frequently advises owners and developers on construction, architect and other professional service agreements, and tenants on issues related to the build-out of their locations.

In addition, Lisa negotiates brokerage and property management agreements.
