As a member of the House Judiciary Committee in 1974, former Congresswoman Elizabeth Holtzman voted for the Articles of Impeachment against President Richard Nixon.

Holtzman recalls that historic experience as one of the commentators in the new documentary All the President's Men Revisited, executive produced by Robert Redford. In the film, Redford, who played Washington Post reporter Bob Woodward in All the President's Men, "returns to the scandal that broke all the rules of press and politics."

The documentary, which will eventually premiere on the Discovery Channel, is playing in an invitation-only screening tonight in Washington, D.C. at the Newseum on Pennsylvania Avenue co-hosted by Ed Henry, the president of the White House Correspondents' Association.

Asked what she thought of the movie, Holtzman said, "I am honored to be part of this important film."
